

Commissioner Hosting Mural Dedication Saturday, August 13, 2011

Clark County Commissioner Chris Giunchigliani will speak at the dedication of a student-produced mural 9 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 13, on the Flamingo Arroyo Trail south of Desert Inn Road and near the intersection of McLeod Drive and Emerson Avenue.

To get to the mural dedication take Desert Inn Road and then turn south onto McLeod Drive. Look for the rust-colored arch identifying the Flamingo Arroyo Trail and Pecos-McLeod Trailhead, and then turn east onto Emerson Avenue. Park in the parking lot off of Emerson and walk through the tunnel under Pecos-McLeod to the mural.

The mural was a joint effort by the Monkey Gym, a non-profit organization for low income families and children of domestic violence, and students from the County's Summer Business Institute, which provides local high school students with paid summer internships. This project replaced a graffiti covered eyesore with a 5,000-square-foot mural depicting area wildlife and Native American inspired designs.
